VAYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL
For the Cure of
COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS,
BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

THIS invaluable remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs has at length established a world-wide reputation, surpassing anything before known to the afflicted. Other preparations have proved deceptive and worthless, but this has risen superior to all opposition, and has gained a stability unknown to any other medicine. Almost every person has been made to feel the effects of Pectoral in some of the various diseases which it is designed to cure, and the result has been a unanimous voice in favor of its virtues. Many of the most astonishing cures have been effected, which, if not fully authenticated by the most reliable evidence, would exceed belief. Even those who have been cured by it, are astonished when they reflect upon the dangerous character of the diseases from which they have been relieved, and the hopeless condition they were in when they commenced taking the remedy. While many of these cases are publicly known, there are thousands of others, scarcely less remarkable, which are only known in the circles of the friends and neighborhood of the sufferers themselves. Such cases, although not generally known, are destined to exert a powerful influence in the world, for the reason that they are the most reliable and convincing proofs that can be adduced, of the unrivalled excellence of this medicine.

Prepared by J. C. AYER, Practical Chemist, Lowell, Mass., and sold by the following agents in Bangor: LADD & INGRAHAM; GEORGE W EMERSON & GUILD & HOLDEN, Bucksport: C H Palmer & Co, Belfast: WM O Cook, Ellsworth: B F Parker & Co, Dixfield; and by the Druggists generally throughout the country.

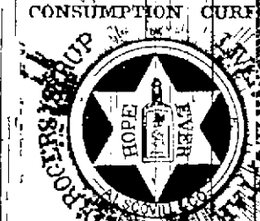
CONSUMPTION CURED!



AND
FOR THE COMPLETE CURE OF Coughs, Colds, Influenza,
Asthma, Bronchitis, spitting of Blood, and all other Lung Complaints tending to CONSUMPTION.
NO OPIUM.

This syrup contains no Opium, Calomel or any mineral whatever but a compound of the vegetable extracts the most efficacious in the Lungs and their connected organs. Its immediate effects is to allay all irritation and speedily remove the phlegm and other morbid secretions from the Throat and Air Passages, thus relieving the cough by removing the cause and other diseases which gives rise to it. In this manner and by a healthy tone to the Lungs themselves the cure is effected. In more chronic cases by continuing the use of this syrup those impurities and diseased particles which, if retained, would in time undermine the system, are removed, the foundation for the terrible CONSUMPTION is also effectually destroyed.

It also exerts a decided action upon the skin and creates a perspiration through the Pores, which in most cases of Fever and Ague is sufficient to break up the disease. In cases of that most fearful and terrible disease, Consumption, when the Lungs are in a state of ulceration, this syrup will be found to exert a most astonishing influence in healing the ulcers, and in many cases it has proved entirely successful in curing the disease. In all cases of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Asthma, Bronchitis, spitting of Blood, and all other Lung Complaints tending to Consumption, this syrup will be found to exert a most astonishing influence in healing the ulcers, and in many cases it has proved entirely successful in curing the disease. ☞ The New York Tribune appeared on Friday last in a new dress, and its market prosperity is a just tribute to one of the most spirited journals in the world. The intelligence and position of Mr. Greeley is well known, fair and white; but C. A. Dana and Bayard Taylor add vastly to it quota to the value of the Tribune. Its foreign news department is furnished with the latest intelligence from every quarter of the globe. It has many of its correspondents are some of the most talented of its country and the independence of its tone and position on the leading questions of reform, now agitating the public mind, draw around it a host of supporters.—Nashville Whig.

Numerous changes are continually occurring in the political world around us, but we find none in The Tribune; it is the same consistent friend of human liberty, the same ardent advocate of the progressive principle, the same generous supporter of all social and political reforms, which it was at the commencement of its career. If our citizens will take a New York paper, we commend The Tribune to them as the most readable journal we meet.—Albany N. Y. Argus.

☞ We are much indebted to The New York Tribune for an exchange. Having had several good tastes of it we find it almost indispensable. It approximates the nearest to a universal American and Foreign Journal of any that has fallen under our observation.—In politics we don't like, but we do admire its every, in its fearless pitch into, dare-devil style of dealing out and probing the abuses in Government and the inbound convent and Whig party and its not only pointing out what needs reform but leading to them. It is not the pet lion of Tribune, by any means, but he is given to a circuit on a dog quality on which the sun never sets.—Bangor (Me.) Jeffersonian

(Concluded.)

On Dec 1st we set out for El Bario, twenty one miles from this place. We travelled till the middle of the afternoon, over a very rough and barren country, the trail (for there are no roads across the mountains) being just wide enough for a single horseman to pass, sometimes leading through the dried up bed of the mountain stream, our horses stumbling over the stones and rocks, at other times running along the verge of high steep precipices, that would make one sick to look on, with barely room for our horses to walk, and then down steep and narrow cuts that had been worn by mules and washed out by the water running through them, to skiey just room for a single horse to walk—the walls of earth rose high above our heads on both sides, many places being so steep that steps had been worn or cut, there to assist the animals in climbing. After we had reached the summit of the mountains one of our companions was taken sick with the cholera, and unable to proceed—We therefore halted, erected our Tents built a fire, and made the best we could of our situation. We therefore halted, erected our Tents built a fire, and made the best were comforts we could to take care of our friend. There were no habitants within a couple of leagues and we had neither med cine, food nor water. One started off at break to get some provisions, while the rest collected wood to last us through the night. About dark our companion returned, bringing a few tortillas and a calabash of water, which were soon all consumed, and we could get no more. During the night another was taken sick and the rest of us were worn down and, weakened by fatigue and a continued diarrhea. We had but few clothes or blankets, and to aggravate our miserable situation, a cold drizzling rain came on, which lasted nearly all night, the sick were crying for water, and one of us consisting begging and entreating us to kill him and put him out of misery, or to bring us a weapon if at he might do it himself. Early in the morning of the 2d, the remaining five pushed on to El Bario one of the party returning with water and food from the first rancho and the rest on their arrival in town immediately sent back a number of men with letters to bring in the sick. We remained here until the 9th. Leaving our two sick friends with a Spanish merchant who had treated us very kindly, while there, and who paid every attention to those placed in his care, we started for San Juan de Guichicovi, 18 miles distant, towards evening. This is an Indian town, of about 5 000 inhabitants living in rough thatched huts and in the most primitive manner. The only stone building is the cathedral which is now nearly in ruins, the roof covering the body of the church has fallen in, leaving a small glo arch standing alone, and spanning from wall to wall at the height of about seventy five feet. The front part where is the bell is still covered, and is taken care of, the old ladies performing regular services there. Around the walls are the crosses and no Leeches, having placed small dishes of wax at the foot of each, filling it with a wick and burning them, some are burning candles and before the dirty looking saints are quite a number of beggars, quests by flowers who in others appear comfortably dressed. The people are really ignorant—they priest is their religion, whatever he does is right, what he tells them they do. Here, as in other parts of the countries we were travelling, the dead are buried dressed in their best clothes, the children (some) with garlands of flowers around their heads, and it is a custom that the upper part of the head, and the feet exposed, and so they are put in the grave.

On the 3d we received a letter from Don Luis Calderon, with whom we had left the sick requesting us to leave the cattle and come to Tehuantepec, on the 1st inst, and the 6th we brought provisions to last us several days which time it would take us to reach a place where we could again get supplies we arrived at Don Luis' (Montes) he was absent We remained there until the 8th in consequence of our Mozos with our provisions, not arriving 1 time, and then set out for the bank of the Chatasc also river twenty seven miles distant—the trail the whole distance leading through a dense forest over steep hills, and occasionally brooks some mountainous sticking fast in the deep mire we le crossing patches of lava land. At one we had to ford the river, and fearing a shower we encamped under the cliff and slept, what with fear of rain coming on, and the cries which arose from the natives on the opposite bank of the river which we had to ford, we did not get much rest. Early next day we reached the river, having traveled over all level beautiful country, with a soil rich and fertile, but uncultivated, covered, in many parts, with heavy and valuable timber.

On the 14th, hired a canoe to carry us down the river a hundred and five miles, and after being encamped up in a narrow little ship out over two days, but sailing on a most beautiful river through a constant change of scenery that the eye could not tire of looking at, and meeting many amusing incidents, we reached Tlacotalpan, a fine city, containing about 8 000 inhabitants, and a place of some trade and manufactures.

On the 18th, we took passage on board a small Mexican schooner for Vera Cruz, at which city we arrived on the 20th. We found here the steamer Alabama for New Orleans, via Minitlan, and took passage on board of her. At this place we found one of the sick we had left behind, who had sufficiently recovered to come on thus far. He brought the information of the death of two others who had been left sick, making four lost out of the original ten who left the ship.

We arrived at New Orleans on the 11th of January, 1851, happy enough to be once more on American ground.

Valuation Again.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

I understand that a paper at a distance has alluded, to my former communication on the State Valuation. Not having seen the article, I only give the substance as communicated to me, to wit: that had the writer submitted my figures to a boy twelve years old and he had not found that Bangor was not high enough by $28, he should have told him he was wrong.—Now I doubt not that communication originated in a town not far from Bangor and had two objects in view, first to aid in a certain election soon to take place and next to divert the public mind from the real subject. The insuspicions may be confused by the side hits, but those who know a leader in the mischief, especially one who was an eye witness to the doings of a certain firm at the seat of Government last year, cannot be thus wrought upon; and every attempt of this kind by the senior partner of that firm serves but to make the transaction more lucidly unjust. I do not know how to take this writer on his $28 which the masterly minds of himself and his twelve year old have found to be added to Bangor. If what he means is to add $28 to the taxes of Bangor, let me say it has nothing to do with the subject introduced by me, but does prove what was true, to wit, that in the great haste of this firm to consummate the iniquity, they made no figures: that would have been pains taking. A gross amount was cast upon us: the sum arbitrarily taken up and added to the valuation of the city, as figured by the clerks, and that sum deducted by a per centage from the towns as valued in the table prepared by the clerks. Their only object was to make Bangor take the unjust load. Let it be understood that the valuation published with my former communication is as it passed the Legislature and no quibling can alter the matter. Here again are the most prominent points to be considered in the valuation of this county, and points which should be kept before the people, viz: the valuation of the five most important towns in the county all situated on the Penobscot river, and all engaged in commercial or other important business and valued as follows:—

Bangor,	$3,309,210
Brewer,	383,261
Hampden,	423,141
Oldtown,	336,095
Orono,	259,030

I will now call the attention to the county aggregates of some of the counties:

Penobscot,	$3,953,140
Waldo,	3,300,081
Oxford,	5,293,922
Somerset,	4,070,106
Franklin,	2,681,742
Hancock,	4,603,083
Piscataquis,	1,576,383
Aroostook,	313,262

Now look at this: the whole county of Piscataquis is valued at $1,576,383

Aroostook,	313,262
Town of Brewer,	383,261
Hampden,	423,141
Oldtown,	336,095
Orono,	259,030
Aggregate,	$3,299,702

Bangor being rated $3,309,210 or within a trifle of $300,000 more than the two counties and four of the principal river and commercial towns in this county. And upon such an estimate, if estimate such a mere, dooming can be called, are the State and county taxes to be calculated.

Now, what is the reply to this? Who meets this matter with figures to show its falseness, or with arguments to establish its justice. The only reason I have ever heard for the vile deed has been found in the political character of the city; a sort of stock to make capital for political stockjobbers, to operate with in other parts of the county.

Let me ask, would the old democratic party do this? I thought not. Would the whig party do it? No surely not, against their own stronghold. Would the suggers do it? Never! They would blush in spite of color at such infamous injustice, aside from the oppression. To no political party could I charge this. I know it to proceed from a cabal, a political conspiracy selfish, base, corrupt; not so much from sympathy for the tax-payers of the town, as from a longing to obtain votes for future use.

The Democrat of this city has tried to smooth over this matter and justify the motives if no more, of one of the leaders in this oppression. If the editor of that paper had the facts, especially had he been present in the committee-room of the last Legislature when this work was done up, he could treat the subject more understandingly than he can now. Perhaps he can convince the people that Bangor has prospered so for the last five years as to eclipse all the rest of the county, so as to actually reduce the taxes in the towns while the tax of the county has been relatively increased. H.

☞ The Eastport Sentinel makes honorable mention of the operations and influence of the Mechanics' Association in this city, and of the general ability of the individual mechanics here. We should like to publish the article in our columns but as it was prepared for a home purpose it contains remarks upon the Mechanics of Eastport which would appear too much to their disadvantage if published here. We have noticed communications in the Sentinel urging very strongly upon the Mechanics there the advantages of sustaining an active association for self and mutual improvement, and we cannot but hope that they will yet engage zealously in the work. It is too late in the day for mechanics to think of maintaining their true position or of exercising their just influence without the benefits resulting from an organized association. Individual exertions and private studies will answer for the few here and there one, which no circumstances, however adverse, can keep back, but for the many, something more is needed, and this something in the cheapest and best form is that of a popular association.

New York Correspondence.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

New York, March 28.

For two days past the weather in New York city has been sultry and summer-like. Our doors and windows are open to the south wind, and if mankind were only as genial as the elements, this morning, the country would be safe.

The good feeling manifested at Annapolis by the people of Maryland, recently in the entertainment given (without distinction of party) to Daniel Webster, as a prominent defender of the Union and Constitution, has found an earnest and cordial response in this city. I am very glad to hear from Boston that the sounds there, once opposed to the compromise measures are now in favor of a faithful adherence to the Constitution. I believe that I have before mentioned to you that in a conversation in this city with two Boston merchants, one of them assured me that though many Southern merchants had visited Boston within a few months past, it was not to purchase, but to square their accounts and discontinue all further intercourse with that city.—And the other trader told me he had just returned from a Southern circuit among his customers, but with one accord they had refused to do any business, for the present, with Boston men. They prefer to trade in New York, and many of them have complained no further than Philadelphia, this season. well know very well that the merchants of Boston have always been, as a body, strongly opposed to the fanatics and disorganizers.

The new sidewheel ship Winfield Scott will not be ready to leave for New Orleans on the first of April her departure will be postponed a month. The U. S. steamer Georgia (with the mails and Stimson & Co's Express freight) will leave for Havana and New Orleans on the 10th.

Some public spirited citizen or others is getting up a subscription for the benefit of Mr. Hale, a gentleman who worked very efficiently to obtain the passage of the Cheap Postage Law.

The determination of the Canadian Government to close the Welland Canal, against American citizens, looks rather inconsistent with the good feeling displayed by the British authorities of Toronto last summer when they gave a public entertainment to the citizens of Buffalo.

The case of Cryder and McKay is dwindling to as small a point as they have brought the Midland Railroad bonds to, nor do we think that anything will be done with Ray Tompkins.

The negroes continued their "Convention" last evening, and there were some scenes that beat the Rhode Island Assembly all hollow. Their abolition schemes embrace the doctrine that policy and liberty establishment must be interfered among them, but so popular is this vice with the negroes that they refuse to relinquish it until the subject is the occasion of much angry debate at their amusing meetings.

If our merchants ever have occasion to buy or sell at the New York auctions they must do it with their eyes open, and with parties whose honesty is well endorsed. A new trick here is for the auctioneer and outsiders to combine to get a merchandize knocked down for a song to one of the party. A lot of rags was thus sacrificed in Wall street the other day for $120, and afterwards sold at a profit of $5000.

The poor emigrants are dying off like rotten sheep on Ward's Island.

Yesterday the police arrested a genteel looking middle aged man named Charles Abbott, who had endeavored to lead into the paths of crime a girl named Mary Ayer only 11 years old. At his second appointment with her, she betrayed him into the hands of the officers.

March.

This month is rather the closing up of winter than the opening of Spring. From the stories that render its days dreary and its nights cheerless, it has generally been considered the most unpleasant of months. Sullen phases and gloomy skies it has, in fact, but it also has hopes and encouraging prospects for each returning Spring brings new life and refreshed energies.

In the internals of those directions in which Winter expends its last rage, there are occasional bursts of sunshine than which none were ever more beautiful, genial and invigorating. Then even old Winter begins to relent in his icy grasp upon us. As the rigors of the season soften, little by little, we feel the presence of a new spirit which breathes into us renewed life and hope.

Though neither flower, nor leaf, nor budding plant gladdens our fields and hillsides in the northern clime, till the showers of April have dissolved the lingering masses of ice and had melted down all snow which lie scattered through the forest, beneath tree, hedge, and clustering bough, and the vernal breath of May has awakened and warmed the air; yet earlier in the season there is many a sweet morning, many a glorious "sunrise among the hills," and many a clear note from the bird who survives the fury of a fierce northern winter. Nature reawakens from the deep sleep that frost has imposed upon her. The first influence of the mild sunshine and softening southern breeze begins to rouse the vegetable world from its wintry bed.—A new beauty gleams in the sky and glows in the air. When all is clear and calm, the morning dawn and evening twilight are alike beautiful and pleasant. They are few, it is true, but for that the more noticeable.

But March,—stormy, clamal, unpleasant, sometimes, at others pleasant and bright has left us; but we are not altogether sad at the change that is hastening over the face of nature,—content that we are to exchange wastes of snow for fields spread with vernal green, an atmosphere keen with frosts for an air fragrant with the breath of May flowers,—short walks on rattling ice or half dissolved snows, for long strolls through the valley and grove, jubilant with the spring song of birds, and innumerable sounds and odors,—not unprowful to see the glad river and dancing stream set free from their icy chains, to wander onward to the ocean, singing on their way; rather are we pleased with each new feature of the changing year.

This, our planet is sweeping onward in its orbit, the sun is entering a new constellation. April is upon us, and we must prepare for the Spring. Rural pursuits will soon invite the admirers of nature to show their faith by their works, and to handle the hoe and spade with a becoming vigor and alacrity. The garden—soon as the sun has warmed and dried its surface—must be looked to and dealt with in earnest. So come on Spring; the sooner you come, the more gladly will we greet you. We will welcome your return as we would that of a long absent friend.

☞ M. C. Blake, Esq., the Collector for the District of Belfast has a card in the Belfast Journal touching a controversy between him and the editor of the Belfast Signs, regarding political and other matters. Mr. Blake declares that he has been compelled to this course as a measure of self defence. We certainly deem it a matter of deep regret that there should be this disagreement on the part of those who have so many motives for living in agreement.

☞ Woodson, the fugitive slave arrested in Philadelphia, is to be free—money having been subscribed to buy him.

☞ It should be borne in mind by all who intend to do anything in the way of grafting fruit trees the present season, that all the stone fruit, such as plums, cherries, apricots &c., should be grafted early in the season, before the frost has ceased operating, say from the 1st to the middle of April.

Next to the stone fruits, pear grafting should be attended to, about the first of May, being the appropriate time.

Apples may be grafted any time in May or even in June.

We are glad to find that the attention given to the culture of choice fruits in this city and vicinity for a few years past, is likely to continue. One of our citizens has engaged in the laying out and thorough preparation of a large fruit orchard and nursery, which he shall be the best in the State. He has imported several thousand trees for this purpose from France.

We feel that we cannot perform a more acceptable service to our whole community than to urge every land holder to stock his lots with good fruit trees. One land holder in the county of York has become so well satisfied of the real profit and utility of planting pear trees, upon the quince stock, for the benefit of his tenants, that he has purchased several thousand of the imported dwarf trees and transplanted many of them, and has, fifteen hundred for transplanting the present season.

There is also great advantage to the value of property and to the beauty and health of a place arising from the setting of ornamental trees along the road side. We trust that, the present season will find our people very active in this line. Let the trees be selected and set with care and the reward will be rich.

Still further, now that our hand is in, let us recommend to all to procure some of the beautiful climbing roses and other flowering shrubs, as well as some of the vines of the early grapes, to cling about the doorways of dwellings, and rustic trellises about barns, sheds, and outhouses, gateways and fences.

Attention to these things will add very much to the comfort and beauty of our city, and without any extravagant cost.

☞ The Lewiston Falls Journal will find upon a review of the subject, that for the purpose of exciting hatred, wrath and malice against the Whig administration through the name of Mr. Webster, it lends itself to the vilest slanders. Its object doubtless is to divide and distract the Whig party and thus ensure their defeat at the next presidential election.—The game it plays should be well understood by the Whig party in Maine. We deem its remark that the press that dares speak but a word in behalf of freedom is in danger of meeting the rebuke of the present Whig administration, a base slander which entitles it to the lick of every honest man in the land.

☞ The Whigs of Pennsylvania appear to be settling down with wonderful unanimity and good feeling upon Gen. Scott as the whig candidate for President. Some thirty or more of the Whig papers of that State have expressed preferences for him, and various conventions held in different parts of the State have passed resolutions favorable to his selection.

☞ The clear and cheerful note of the robin was heard by us yesterday morning in the beautiful sunlight, telling of the passing away of the drear winter and the ushering of the glorious and hopeful spring. The pure white snow-drops will, in a few days, peep above the surface of the earth from the silent grave in which it has been buried, and shortly will follow the yellow and blue and white crocuses, those early risers of spring, to make glad the heart and to give promise of the coming summer. We love the hopeinspiring spring with its rapid succession of flowers and its many temptations to labor upon the generous earth, and cause it to yield its manifold treasures to gratify the eye and regale the appetite. Happy, accordingly, is the lot of that man whose interest and duty and pleasure all combine to lead him to work upon the soil and to breathe the fresh air and enjoy the rays of the sun and toughen his muscles in healthful and manly exercise. It seems to us like a reward of life for a man to own and manage his broad acres, and prune his fruit orchard and rest himself in the intervals of his toil beneath the stately trees of his domain.

☞ The Legislature of Massachusetts have passed a law offering a reward of Ten Thousand Dollars to any person within the State who shall satisfy the Governor and Council, that by a test of at least five successive years, he has discovered a sure and practical remedy for the potato rot.

☞ The N. York Tribune utters a thoroughly Whig sentiment of the old fashioned sort, such as comes home to every substantial old Whig like the sound of a silver trumpet or the ring of pure coin, in the following paragraph:

So earnest, so overmastering is our conviction that efficient Protection to Home Industry in all its exposed and depressed branches is essential to the National well-being, that we would very gladly surrender the next Presidential Election and all its results to our political adversaries on condition that they would aid us to establish and maintain a thoroughly Protective Tariff. Regarding this as the cornerstone of a wise and beneficent National Policy, we are ready to make any personal or party sacrifice to secure it.

☞ Major J. W. Chapman is expecting in a few days a large lot of the choicest dwarf pear trees, on the Angers quince, grown in the North of France and imported in the best order. Those wishing any of those very popular and desirable trees, can be sure of a supply at the Chapman Nursery in this city.

Grafting Early.

To the Editor of the Daily Whig and Courier:

Goodrich's Northern Fruit Culturist says Cherries should be grafted before the frost leaves the ground. It is no less true with Cherries than with Plums. All stone fruit should be grafted just before the frost leaves the ground to insure success. EXPERIENCE.

☞ The town of Gloucester erected seven school houses the past year, and expended for this purpose and the support of existing schools $32,000. A superintendent of the public schools has been chosen. The valuation of the town is less than two millions of dollars.

BANGOR, March 31, 1851.

At a special meeting of the BANGOR MERCANTILE ASSOCIATION, the following Preamble and Resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas it hath pleased Almighty God, in his inscrutable providence, to remove from our midst, by the stern summons of death, a member of this Association, one of our most estimable citizens, the oldest resident merchant of this city, ABNER TAYLOR, Esq., who but a few days since was among us in all the activities of business; and, whereas it has been our delight, to honor and respect him while living for his uniform example of unwavering integrity and correctness of life. We now feel impelled by remembrance of his virtues, to make some public expression of our sincere regret and grief at his departure, and of sympathy toward those who are the more immediate sufferers in this afflictive event; therefore,

Resolved, That the merchants of Bangor, extend to the widow and family of Abner Taylor, Esq., their heartfelt sorrow in view of the event which has deprived them of an affectionate husband and kind father, and us of the example of an honest man.'

Resolved, further, That we suggest the propriety of a general attendance upon the funeral services of the deceased, and also that between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock tomorrow, the stores in our principal business streets be closed so far as convenient.

Voted, That the above Preamble and Resolutions be copied upon the Records of the Mercantile Association, and a copy forwarded to the widow of the deceased, and also that they be published in the papers of this city.

JENNY LIND IN NASHVILLE.—Nashville, March 29. Jenny Lind and troupe arrived here this morning; the prospects of the concert are good. The first ticket brought $200. Barnum declined an offer of $10,000 for the first two concerts.

HEAVY ROBBERY.—Philadelphia, March 30. A man named Washington Benford, a mass dealer, of Somerset county, Pa., while coming from Boston, was robbed last night whilst coming from Camden to this city, of $3800 in notes of the Boston Banks.

ALBANY, March 29. The Assembly have passed the bill for the more speedy enlargement of the canals of the State. The Select committee in the late expose are expected to report on Monday.

Destructive Fire.

PORTSMOUTH, (Ohio,) March 29

Nearly all the entire block of houses between Pine and Court streets were destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is estimated at $30,000.

ALBANY, March 29. The Senate's select committee appointed for the purpose last evening, have this afternoon been engaged in an investigation of the charges preferred by S. A. Snydam of New York city against George S. Bull, Sergeant at Arms of the New York Senate. They have not concluded, but it is expected they will make a report on Monday morning. Mr. Bull has not been seen since this morning. He has probably gone to Buffalo.

WINTER BIRDS. A friend of ours (Capt. Thompson) informs us that he discovered in the woods in the town of Bristol, two pairs of birds, with their nests. They have been there all winter. One of the nests contains one young bird, and the other one three eggs, between the size of a robin's and sparrow's and of a similar color to the latter. The birds are about the size of a black-bird. The color of the male is a mixture of grey, white and yellow, and the female of a light grey color.—They seem well pleased with their winter home singing as merrily as robbins in June.—These strangers have received quite a number of visits from the curious, who will vouch for the correctness of the above. No one in the region has ever seen birds of similar species.—[Lincoln Democrat.

THE BOUNTY LAND GRANTS.—It is officially stated that up to this time about one hundred thousand applications have been received for the benefit of the law; and every day's mail adds from five hundred to a thousand to their number. The office is now issuing between one thousand and twelve hundred a week; it will require more than eighteen months before the claims now on hand can be disposed of, or matured into warrants. All persons interested in the law, or desiring information in regard to it, are requested to address their communications directly to the Commissioner of Pensions. —[Baltimore Sun, March 24.

The Union.

The Virginia House of Delegates have recently passed, with but one or two dissenting voices, a series of resolutions, in one of which they declare that 'the people of Virginia are unwilling to take any action to destroy the integrity of this Union.' The following are the 2nd and 3d resolutions:

Resolved 2nd, That regarding the said acts (the compromise measures) of the Congress of the United States, taken together, as an adjustment of the exciting questions to which they relate, and cherishing the hope that, if fairly executed, they will restore to the country that harmony and confidence which of late have been so unhappily disturbed, the State of Virginia deems it unwise (in the present condition of the country) to send delegates to the proposed Southern Congress.

Resolved 3d, That Virginia earnestly and affectionately appeals to her sister State of South Carolina to desist from any meditated secession upon her part, which cannot but tend to the destruction of the Union, and the loss to all the States of the benefits that spring from it.

Every part of the New Constitution of New Hampshire has been rejected by the people, by votes varying from two to one to four to one on the several propositions.

THE WORLD'S EXHIBITION in London, will doubtless be a grand affair, but so is Jewett & Prescott's Silk and Shawl Store, No 2 Milk Street, Boston;—at least the manufacturers of Europe and India are well represented at the latter place, and it is quite certain a visit there will be profitable.

George Farrington's Oyster Saloon is just the place for the traveller to call and refresh himself, no matter what the choice or taste may be. Mr Farrington's table is abundantly supplied with Oyster Soups, Pig's Feet, Sausages, Pickled Clams, Tea, Coffee, new Cider, Honey, &c. &c., ten doors beyond the Old Market.

Bliss's Compound Cod Liver Oil Candy.

For the past year, this invaluable remedy for all affections of the throat and chest has been before the public, and numerous are the testimonials of its excellence which the proprietor has at his command. Cod Liver Oil has been used, but not very extensively, owing to its nauseous smell and repulsive taste. This Candy unites all the virtues of the Oil, but is entirely free from a disagreeable flavor. No remedy that we know of is one half so valuable as this, and we commend it to the public, cautioning against counterfeits.

WASHING FLUID,

For Washing in either Hard or Soft Water.

THIS is the only genuine article to be found in the world and possesses double the power of anything ever discovered, for washing clothes at a trifling expense, doing away, with washboards at once! In fact it seems to be the long sought philosopher's stone, or universal solvent, seeming a magical preparation in operation board of the most surprising character. A common sized washing may be done with one gill of the Fluid, in less than two hours. It softens and removes the dirt, leaving the article clear of the most brilliant whiteness, it is perfectly harmless in its operations as pure water; and the using will wear much longer than when rubbed clean by the common method of washing.

The Fluid is a powerful agent, to be used in all cases where soap is required, particularly for cleansing paint, utensils, cleaning windows and paint, either on Carts, in short it is beyond a precedent, will be universal in the washing world.

P. S.—All Colored Goods are rendered brighter by being washed in this Fluid; all Woolens are free from shrinking and thereby rendered much softer than the old way of washing.

None genuine unless the Labels contain their signature.

The above article is warranted by the Manufacturers not to contain soda, lime, camphene, burnt alcohol, or acid of any kind, but to be purely an active preparation of the most powerful character, containing none, than double the washing power of anything ever discovered, being perfectly harmless in vapor, without possessing the caustic properties of the miserable articles which flood the market, and in many instances disgust the people to that degree that they are unwilling to try a good article, when it really is to be found. The proprietors only ask a fair trial of this article, and are perfectly willing to forfeit any amount for a single failure in any instance where it is used.

THE Great American Remedy

FOR Colds, Coughs Asthma, Whooping Cough Croup and all diseases of the Chest and Lungs has now been so long before the public, and its reputation so well established, both from recommendations of Physicians and from the unquestionable testimony of its individual virtues by all who have used it, that it can scarcely be necessary to say more. It must very soon supercede the use of every other article used for the same and hundreds of complaints. As a family medicine it can never be outdone. In double the usual dose it almost invariably vomits the child in the first stages of croup and relieves and quiets it immediately. For quite a number of years it has been the favorite and universal remedy in all the cases named of one of the most celebrated and skilful Physicians
